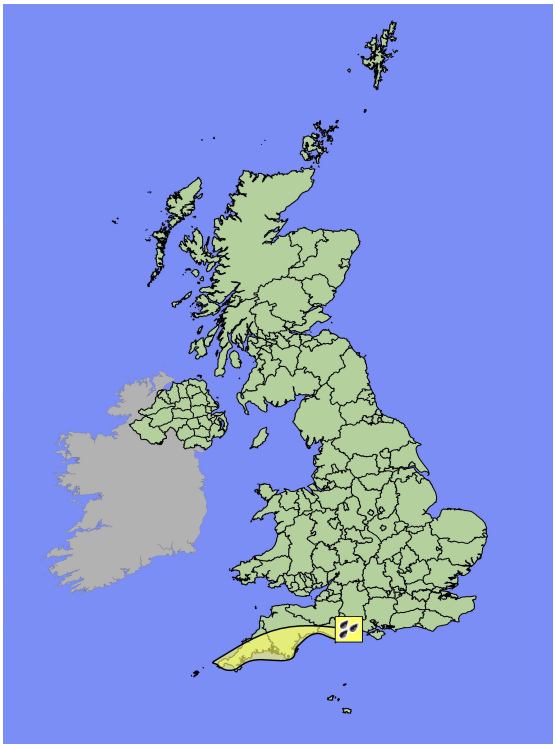
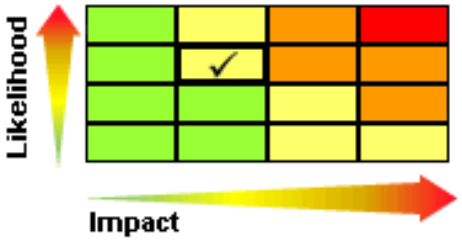
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
As yesterday, there is the potential for some intense April showers, perhaps the main risk area being west Devon and Cornwall. As is often the case, many places will miss the heaviest showers, and impacts are likely to be very localised.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 14:00 on Sat, 14th Apr 2012 until 20:00 on Sat, 14th Apr 2012

Scattered slow-moving but heavy thundery showers will continue to develop this afternoon.

The public should be aware that these may cause difficult drivng conditions locally, due to either surface water flooding or hail on road surfaces.
